

The Museum is excited about our newest permanent exhibition, Expedition Health, which opened in April 2009. Expedition Health features fun, interactive exhibits, experiments, live demonstrations, and immersive theater experiences, where visitors will watch their incredible bodies respond to various environments, measure their bodies' performance and strength, and see why even small changes can lead to improved health and vitality.

Volunteer Position Available:

Exhibit Guide

Exhibit Guides support the educational objectives in Expedition Health by working in teams to facilitate touch carts and a variety of health and wellness activities for the visitors.

Skills and Abilities:

- Interest in biology and/or health-related topics
- Excellent customer service skills
- Ability to work within a team with people of all ages

Training:

- Hands-on training in the exhibition with experience volunteers and staff
- Content based training with the exhibit creators

Schedule:

- One 4.5-hour shift per week or every other week, 8:30 a.m.–1:00 p.m. or 12:30 a.m.–5:00 p.m.

Minimum Commitment:

- One year

Age Requirement:

- Available to individual applicants 16 and older and family groups with children ages 12 and older

How to Apply:

- Visit our website at www.dmns.org to download a volunteer application and to receive more information!
- Call the museum's Volunteer Services department at 303.370.6419