

Drug Price Caps are the Wrong Solution for Patients

Patients say they're worried about the serious, unintended consequences of price caps on medications.

Government price controls won't reduce patient out-of-pocket costs. They limit choice and could reduce investments in new medicines.

Colorado BioScience Association urges the Prescription Drug Affordability Board (PDAB) to ensure Coloradans have uninterrupted access to critical medicines. "Upper payment limits" are not the right solution.

Learn more at cobioscience.com/pdab

COLORADO
BIOSCIENCE
ASSOCIATION